

1. We have returned to our normal way of distributing the Lord's Supper with a couple of exceptions, which are italicized and underlined below.
2. Before communing, please read our statement on Holy Communion inside the front cover of the bulletin. Please speak with our pastor after the service if you have any questions.
3. All communicants are asked to register for communion as you enter the sanctuary and mark whether you want to receive an individual cup or the common cup when you receive the precious blood of Christ.
4. We will close the chancel "gate" prior to communion.
5. Hand sanitizer is available in the aisle for you to use prior to communing.
6. Whoever does not want to climb the steps is asked to either sit in the first pew on either side or move there as the congregation sings the "Agnus Dei." Our pastor and elders will serve those communicants first before serving at the altar.
7. Those sitting in the south pews will commune on the right side of the altar.
8. Those sitting in the north pews will commune on the left side of the altar.
9. The usher will alternate between the south and north sides when releasing people to commune. Please allow the group from the other side to exit the aisle before you enter it so there is only one line at a time in the aisle.
10. Each side of the table will have a maximum of five or six people at a time (except when family members commune together) so we can keep an appropriate distance from others.
11. The first person of a group from the south side will move to the right side of the altar and the others will follow as they fill in around the right half of the altar.
12. The first person of a group from the north side will stand just left of the center of the communion rail and the others will fill around the left side of the altar.
13. The pastor will welcome you to the table of our Lord. You may bow slightly to show reverence to Jesus, who is present in His Supper. You may kneel or stand at the rail as the pastor distributes the holy body of Christ.
14. An elder will distribute the precious blood of Jesus in individual cups, which will be spread out in a tray. He will pause in front of each communicant. If you wish to receive an individual cup, then please take a cup from the tray as the elder holds it in front of you.

15. Someone will follow with the common cup. If you received an individual cup, please hold it in front of you so the one offering the common cup can see who still needs to be communed.
16. The pastor or elder will dismiss each side as per usual by saying: "Go in peace."
17. Please depart in the same order you arrived at the altar. Those receiving an individual cup are asked to place the empty cup in the basket as they depart.
